

I started with customers, connected the tickets and concessions, because one customer can have multiple tickets and concessions. From there, I connected the movies to the tickets, because there are multiple movies but a single ticket can only contain a single movie.